

Government Affairs

Yuanda's Government Affairs practice consists of former prosecutors with extensive trial experience, former diplomats well-versed in foreign affairs, contributors to local regulations and enforcement guidelines, former corporate general counsels, and other accomplished consultants and professionals. Our attorneys' insight into the objectives and judgments of lawmakers and law enforcement at all levels, underpinned by their multidisciplinary backgrounds, nuances our understanding of the laws and regulations, industry policies, judicial practices, compliance requirements, and commercial logics, and ensures we stay on top of trending and cutting-edge subjects, assisting other project lawyers in working together to provide high value-added services to our clients.

In particular, over the past decade, Yuanda's Government Affairs team has accumulated a great deal of valuable cooperation and hands-on experience through its handling of various complex and highly influential emergencies and crises. Our team will be the first on the scene when a client gets caught up in such a situation, providing swift and effective advice to help the client proactively manage government relations, defuse the crisis, respond to media and public inquiries, and seek assistance from relevant administrative departments in a timely manner.

The strategic cooperation with Winston & Strawn enables us to present to clients one of the largest regulatory compliance teams in the world. Our global team consists of more than 100 attorneys, including more than a dozen former prosecutors from the U.S. Attorney's Offices and former U.S. government officials who once served important roles in various departments, advising clients on public policies, legislative, regulatory and administrative matters on a global scale.
